TALK OF IMPROVEMENT ON THE GARFIELD BRANCH.

Officials Do Not Want to Buy More Narrow Gauge Equipment-Road May Pass to Pacific Coast Line.

In order to avoid the purchase of new narrow gauge equipment for the Garfield and Tooele branch of the Short Line, the officials of the company The celebrated case of E. W. Wilson, it is asserted, have concluded to lay trustee in bankruptcy for the estate the third rail, making the road standand unsecured creditors of John Beck, and gauge from Salt Lake to the terminus, thirty-seven miles.

Officials of the company recently went over the course and inspected the road bed thoroughly. The large number of new ties that have been put in recently will make the work comparatively easy, and there is a probability of the extension of the line to develop the Stockton mining region of the extension of the line to develop the Stockton mining region.

Those on the inside profess that the line will no sooner have been broadgauged than negotiations for its purchase and the purchase of Garfield beach will be opened by the Clark people, with a view to making it a part of the Los Angeles & Salt Lake line. In fact, it has been argued all along that Garfield was the real place for a tourist hotel and that one is to be erected on the lake seems to be a settled fact. This will in no wise interfere with the purchase of Saltair, but should the Garfield deal go through the big pavilion will be operated as at present.

fifteen people, and aside from the sing-ing of the ladies a more dismal fizzle could not be portrayed. It is generally conceded that the efforts of the speakers only added strength to the Democratic ticket. The stubbornly fought case of Joseph H. Smith vs. Salt Lake City has been decided in favor of the city after being heard three times in the courts of Utah. The verdict of $21,466.66 in the plaintiff's favor, rendered in May, 1899, has been reversed by the court of appeals at St. Paul, according to private advices that reached the city yesterday afternoon, and the case remanded for a new trial.

The case grew out of the construction of the Parley's canyon conduit. Smith, the plaintiff, a Denyer contractor, brought suit for about $99,000 and interest, the whole summing about $150,000.

The conduit was built in 1892, but not until 1894 was the case taken up. It was first referred to Parley L. Williams of this city by the territorial court, and the referee's finding was that the plaintiff could recover nothing under his contract. Judge Marshall, then the city attorney, contending that if the plaintiff made a bad contract he had to stand by it.

The case then went to a jury before Judge Hallet, and a verdiet was rendered for the plaintiff, amounting to $21,466.66. It was from this judgment that the city appealed to the United Good Meeting at Helper.

Helper, Oct. 13.—Senator D. O. Rideout of Salt Lake and Ricy H. Jones of Box Elder county addressed the people of Helper tonight upon the political issues of the day as viewed from a Democratic standpoint. The largest political gathering that has ever assembled in the history of the town was out and was amply repaid for the magnificent reception which they accorded the speakers. The steakers left here on an early train for Cache county, where they will participate in lining up the Democracy. $21,466.66. It was from this judgment that the city appealed to the United States court of appeals, sitting at St. Paul, last November. The news came yesterday that the verdict had been reversed and the case again remanded. It will come back here for hearing, under the law laid down by the court of appeals, which is as yet undefined. Through the long siege the city's interests have been represented by Attorneys Marshall and W. C. Hall, associated with Richards & Varian. The plaintiff's case has been represented by Judge Judd, formerly of Salt Lake, and Judge Reuter of Denver.

Tries to Clean Out Row of Tenement Houses on Eighth South.

(Special Correspondence.)

Farmington, Oct. 15.—The $50,000 damage suit brought by the estate of the late James H. Raddon of Kaysville against the Rio Grande Western Raddon, who was run down by an engine and k.iled on Feb. 24, 1900, has been on trial before Judge Rolapp today. Some trouble was had in securing a jury, the regular venire of twenty jurors being exhausted and a special venire issued. Zane & Rogers and W. R. White appeared for the plaintiff and Judge Howat and Waldemar Van Cott for the defense. When court adjourned for the day only seven jurors had been sworn. Two or three days will probably be occupied in trying the case. The police were called upon to quell an incipient riot on the south side last night, a man named Hobbs, who lives at 358 West Eighth South having undertaken to clean out a row of tene-ment houses unassisted. Hobbs suc-ceeded, almost. He assaulted several persons, throwing the landlord or pro-prietor of the row out of doors and tearing the clothes off a young fellow who tried to stop him in his mad ca-reer.

officer Lincoln reached the scene and chased Hobbs into his house, when Mrs. Hobbs took it upon herself to deny the officer the right to enter. As the woman was in delicate health, the policeman made no effort to force his way in, but a warrant will in all likelihood be sworn out for Hobbs today.
